

CONTRIBUTOR'S PAGE

BOB BLACKMAN has done graduate work in folklore at Indiana University. He writes regularly for several folk music publications.

GEORGE CAREY teaches folklore at the University of Massachusetts.

M. M. CARLSON is a graduate student in the Slavics Department at Indiana University. She is currently in the U.S.S.R. to conduct research on folklore in the works of Biely.

DAVID KUNG DUNAWAY is a graduate student at in the folklore program at the University of California at Los Angeles.

JAMES LEARY holds a Ph.D. from the Folklore Institute, Indiana University and is currently teaching in the English Department of The University of Kentucky.

RICHARD MARCH is a doctoral candidate at the Folklore Institute of Indiana University and is currently in Yugoslavia on a Fulbright Grant to study Yugoslavian folk music.

JOHN F. MOE is a doctoral candidate in the Department of History at Indiana University. He has organized and participated in many folk festivals throughout the United States.

PHILIP NUSBAUM is a frequent contributor to the FOLKLORE FORUM record review section. Having a long time interest in folk and country music, Mr. Nusbaum is a radio announcer for the University of Iowa's radio station.

DAVID PACE is a faculty member in the History Department of Indiana University. He holds a doctorate from Yale University and has just completed a book on structuralism.

MICHAEL STONER is a graduate student in the folklore and folklife program at the University of Pennsylvania. He has had a long standing interest in traditional Irish music and is himself a tin-whistle aficionado.

WILLIAM THATCHER is a graduate student in folklore and ethnomusicology at Indiana University. He is interested in musical traditions of the United States, Western Europe and Africa.

EGLE ŻYGAS is the Folklore Forum Translation Editor and is a doctoral student at the Folklore Institute of Indiana University.