

NSSE is entering its 3rd decade! We invite you to help us explore trends and possibilities in student engagement at your institution and in higher education by weighing in on the following questions*:

1. Changing demographics: What are the emerging demographics on your campus? How will new kinds of students challenge and shape what we know about engagement?

2. Developments in teaching and learning: Do current measures of engagement adequately cover what is essential to the improvement of student learning? What new forms of engagement should we assess?

3. Trends in assessment: What trends should a large-scale survey assessment project consider over the next decade to facilitate evidence-informed improvement?

please hand in your feedback at the end of this session! We want to hear from you...*
