

Envisioning Convergence

Suggested Web Resources

Twenty-one Websites Worth Knowing About

Note: This list is not comprehensive, but provides resources for further investigation regarding the topics discussed in this publication. It includes many of the websites for organizations who participated in the November 2003 gathering.

Bioneers	www.bioneers.org
California Indian Basketweavers Association	www.ciba.org
Center for Rural Affairs	www.cfra.org
Center for Rural Strategies	www.ruralstrategies.org
The Conservation Fund	www.conservationfund.org
Development in Practice (a journal focusing on international development)	www.developmentinpractice.org
First Nations Development Institute	www.firstnations.org
Northern Forest Center	www.northernforest.org
Nuestras Raices	www.nuestras-raices.org
Partners for Livable Communities	www.livable.com
Redefining Progress	www.redefiningprogress.org
Renewing the Countryside	www.renewingthecountryside.org
Rural Coalition	www.ruralco.org
Rural Heritage Program, National Trust for Historic Preservation	www.ruralheritage.org
Rural Policy Research Institute	www.rupri.org

The Rural School and Community Trust www.ruraledu.org

Trust for Public Land www.tpl.org

United Nations Educational,
Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) www.unesco.org

Western Folklife Center www.westernfolklife.org

The World Bank www.worldbank.org.
Website for the World Bank Group. Look in Topics in Development and Documents and Reports for information about environmental issues and policy, international development, culture and development, food security and poverty reduction.

The Trumpeter <http://trumpeter.athabascau.ca/>
Website for an environmental journal expressing ideas and analysis associated with the Deep Ecology movement.