

A COURSE IN EARLY CHINESE HISTORY

A SET OF ONLINE READING MATERIALS

Robert Eno
2010
Version 1.1

© 2010, 2012 Robert Eno

This online resource is made freely available for use in not for profit educational settings and for personal use.

For other purposes, apart from fair use, copyright is not waived.

The materials that are linked through the Contents page below were developed over a period of twenty-five years for a college course taught at Indiana University: History G380: Early China. I originally made them available online for the convenience of my own students, but decided to let them remain online for general access after I retired in 2013. Now, with the assistance of the IU Library's IU Scholar Works program, they will remain online indefinitely for teachers, students, and general readers to read, borrow, and adapt as they see fit. So long as these materials are employed in a not-for-profit context, no permission is required for their use, whether in their current or in altered form. Matters of attribution I leave to individuals to decide, although it is good to bear in mind that these materials have not been peer reviewed or edited by anyone other than myself, and a citation will make clear that the responsibility for errors large and small belongs with me. Please be aware that, with a few small exceptions, these materials were created in 2010 and before, and have not been updated with insights from newer scholarship. I hope they will nevertheless be of value.

Bob Eno
September 2019

CONTENTS

THE CLASSICAL ERA

PART ONE: SPRING AND AUTUMN PERIOD CHINA

PART TWO: WARRING STATES PERIOD CHINA

THE PRE-CLASSICAL PAST

PART THREE: SHANG AND WESTERN ZHOU CHINA

THE POST-CLASSICAL FUTURE

PART FOUR: QIN AND EARLY HAN CHINA

Online Translation Supplements

Confucian Texts

The Analects of Confucius

The Mencius

The Great Learning & The Doctrine of the Mean

Daoist Texts

The Dao de jing

Zhuangzi: "Inner Chapters"