Pre-Reading Questions:

- Who inspires you to work hard? How?
- How can you set a good example for others?

Once upon a time, there was a girl named Uwineza whose mother was a doctor. Uwineza admired the job very much. Inspired by her mother's competence in her work, Uwineza decided to become a doctor, too.

She started to follow her mother everywhere she went. Together, they attended meetings for educating people about the importance of children's vaccinations, family planning, AIDS testing, and getting treatment from health centers.

After this experience, Uwineza planned to become a doctor like her mother in order to keep the population healthy and well.

Determined to reach her goal, Uwineza studied medicine at the university and successfully completed all of her classes. She became a hardworking doctor.

Then, she became devoted and skilled in helping people. She was highly praised for her performance at work. Reaching her goal required focus.

Setting a good example is a talent which has positive results for future generations. Doing something well, whatever that may be, will help yourself and others.

IMANISHIMWE Clementine is 13 years old and in P6. Her favorite subject is English. She has three brothers and one sister. Her favorite color is yellow. Her hobbies include cooking and revising notes for school. When she is older, she wishes to become a social worker.
