

EEAG Business

William G. Lockwood, University of Michigan

The election returns are in. Twenty-nine members voted and it was a very close race between the four candidates. The winners are Katherine Verdery (Johns Hopkins University), Linda Bennett (George Washington University Medical Center) and David Kideckel (Central Connecticut State University). Katherine, having received the greatest number of votes, will serve a three year term. Linda and David tied for the two-year appointment; we can work out that wrinkle at our next meeting in December. Meanwhile, if readers have suggestions, -complaints or comments regarding EEAG business, they should contact any of our three new board members. Anything directly related to the Newsletter should still be sent to the editor.

As for EEAG finances, there's good news and there's bad news. The good news is that we are still solvent, even though the last issue cost more to produce than predicted. Many people responded to the call for dues in the last issue. Several included their 1986-87 dues in their check and one benefactor sent us $25.00. The mailing list has been revised accordingly and this is the first issue to be sent only to paid subscribers.

The bad news is that subscription fees for the 1986-87 year are now due. Only the following have already paid: Banks, B. Bennett, L. Bennett, Carlton, Forry, Gribble, Hamp, Kubick, Knez, Lupastian, McClain, Ohio State University, Rylko-Bauer, Skomal. If your name is not on the list, please send us your dues. They are still only $5.00. This is a critical period in the life of EEAG. We have lost a number of members in this paring down of the mailing list. These include some people who have been active contributors of written material for the pages of the Newsletter but who have not written a check to support the printing and distribution of those pages. Please, don't YOU become an ex-member. EEAG needs your support if we are to continue to exist.

And, of course, we still need your support in another way as well. Please contribute material for publication in the Newsletter: new and forthcoming publications; notices of grants received or proffered; reviews of books or films; requests for assistance; course syllabi and bibliographies; offers to organize symposia; short articles concerning relevant institutions; public announcements of births, deaths, marriages, promotions, or job changes; criticism; suggestions; or what have you. Send them to the Editor at the address given above. The deadline for Volume 6, Number 1, is October 31, but immediately is not too soon.

The Assistant Editors for this issue are Eva Huseby-Darvas and Yvonne Lockwood.
