In Conversation with Heidelise Als

Kaye Spence, AM

In May this year I had the opportunity to have a conversation with Dr. Heidelise Als in Auckland, New Zealand as she was the invited keynote speaker at the Council of International Neonatal Nurses (COINN) 10th international conference. It was such an honour to have her speak and network with over 400 neonatal nurses from 23 countries.

In a quiet corner of the hotel café we had a most enjoyable conversation. As Heidelise sipped on her cappuccino she shared many stories, reflections and insights into NIDCAP and the impact it has on newborn infants and their families. I learned so much about this remarkable woman and the passion that has shaped her life. I would like to share parts of this conversation as I asked about her experience at the conference to trigger some thoughts about NIDCAP.

KS: After three intense days at the conference would you like to share your overall impressions?

HA: When I was invited and saw the conference theme, Enriched Family – Enhanced Care, I knew I wanted to attend. It was so in tune with the philosophy of NIDCAP.

Earlier this year I had the pleasure of attending the COINN (Council of International Neonatal Nurses) International Conference that was held in Auckland, New Zealand. This time it was particularly memorable as Dr Heidelise Als was one of the invited keynote speakers. I must say Heidi was in her element as nurses from many of the 23 countries represented sought her out for photographs and short conversations. She was always surrounded by groups of enthusiastic nurses, many of whom had studied her work in their university courses and knew what an honour it was to meet her. I took the opportunity to have a conversation which is included in this issue. This was enlightening for me as I have known Heidi for nearly 20 years and yet this conversation revealed a different side to her.

This issue also features stories about NIDCAP Training, from the point of view of a novice NIDCAP Trainer and a NIDCAP Trainee challenged by her Advanced Practicum. These stories from Dalia Silberstein and Kristen James Nunez challenge us to think about our own practice and training. Hopefully these stories may encourage others to share theirs. We also feature a profile on Dominque Haumont who provides us with...
