

Special Offer
of
Back Numbers Of The Indiana Magazine Of History
for Libraries, School Libraries, and Personal Files.

Libraries and persons who are now regular subscribers or who will become regular subscribers are offered the opportunity of securing back numbers of the Indiana Magazine of History at a low price. The earlier numbers of the Magazine are too rare to be included in this offer, but numerous copies of many back issues which contain useful and valuable articles and documentary material that should be included in every library in Indiana and in many outside the state, and which may be desired by individual subscribers are now made available at a greatly reduced price.

Beginning with Volume XXIII (1927), the supply of existing numbers with the exception of three issues, is sufficient that these numbers will be offered to our subscribers at twenty-five cents per copy or one dollar per volume. The regular price has been fifty cents per copy or two dollars per volume, and this price will be maintained where the sale is to nonsubscribers. The price of earlier issues will remain at a dollar and a dollar and a half per copy or four dollars and six dollars per volume, depending upon the scarcity of the individual number or volume.

The editor reserves the right to withdraw this special price at any time. He also reserves the right to withdraw it in respect to any issue when the surplus stock of that issue is exhausted.

Useful articles are to be found in these issues of the Magazine. The following are some of the important subjects:

Abraham Lincoln	Michigan Road
The Owens Family	Foreigners and their Influence
James H. Lane	Education
Amos Lane	The Methodist Church
Albert J. Beveridge	The Presbyterian Church
Daniel W. Vorhees	The Catholic Church
Jonathan Jennings	The Quakers
Edward Eggleston	The Australian Ballot
Wabash and Erie Canal	Fort Wayne

Vincennes	The Democratic Party
Vevay	The Republican Party
The Indians

Some of the writers whose work is included in these issues of the Magazine are:

Christopher B. Coleman	William O. Lynch
George S. Cottman	Thomas C. McAvoy
Louis B. Ewbank	Charles Roll
James Alton James	Wendell H. Stephenson
Robert LaFollette	Florence G. Watts
Julie LeClerc Knox	James A. Woodburn

So many items on Abraham Lincoln have appeared in the Magazine that a special list of them has been prepared and will be mailed to individuals interested in purchasing issues in which these items appear.

It is not now possible to supply a complete file of the Magazine but every effort will be made to supply missing numbers for anyone trying to complete a file.

Please address inquiries to the Editor, Indiana Magazine of History, Indiana University, Bloomington, Indiana.

Supply Nearly Exhausted

We are sorry to report that our supply of back numbers of volumes one and three are exhausted, except for one copy of the first issue. The supply of one or more issues in volumes two, seven, eight, ten, seventeen, eighteen, and twenty-two is either sold or nearly sold. Persons interested in completing a file should not delay in making their wants known. Similarly, persons interested in disposing of back numbers are urged to send information about their holdings.
