

upon the same platform from which Henry Clay had spoken. This was a great oration in its imagery and appeal, its beauty and pathos. The reader is told what New York City, Boston, and some other cities did in matters of relief for Ireland but is left to guess whether Prentiss' speech brought any favorable response in New Orleans.

The format, printing, and editorial work maintain the high standard of excellence that have been established in the Southern Biography Series.

Lee F. Crippen

WANTED—COUNTY HISTORIES

The Indiana University Library is attempting to add to its present holdings on Indiana History all of the Indiana county histories and atlases that have been published. If any of the readers of the Indiana Magazine of History have county histories or atlases which they desire to dispose of, please write Miss Irene Ryan, Indiana University Library, Bloomington, Indiana, giving the author and title of the volume and the price which they would expect to receive. We are particularly interested in the following:

John M. Gresham, Biographical and Historical Souvenir for the Counties of Clark, Crawford, Harrison, Floyd, Jefferson, Jennings, Scott, and Washington, Indiana . . .

John Collett, Map of Crawford County, Indiana, and reduced sketch of Wyandotte Cave.

Alva Otis Fulkerson, History of Daviess County, Indiana.

Robert B. Warder, Map of Dearborn, Ohio and Switzerland Counties, Indiana

Atlas of Dearborn County, Indiana, from actual surveys by D. L. Lake and B. N. Griffing . . .

- History of Dearborn and Ohio Counties, Indiana . . .*
Archibald Shaw, History of Dearborn County, Indiana.
A Genealogical and Biographical Record of Decatur County, Indiana.
J. H. Beers, & Co., Atlas of Decatur County, Indiana.
F. E. Mulford, Plat Book of Decatur County, Indiana.
Lewis Albert Harding, History of Decatur County, Indiana.
Ira Ford, et al, History of Northeast Indiana; LaGrange, Steuben, Noble, and DeKalb Counties, 2 volumes.
DeKalb County, Indiana, Atlas.
History of DeKalb County, Indiana (Chicago, 1885).
History of DeKalb County, Indiana (Indianapolis, 1914).
Atlas of Delaware County, Indiana.
Thomas B. Helm, History of Delaware County, Indiana.
Frank D. Haimbaugh, History of Delaware County, Indiana.
General William Harrison Kemper, Twentieth Century History of Delaware County, Indiana.
A Portrait and Biographical Record of Delaware County, Indiana.
A Portrait and Biographical Record of Delaware and Randolph Counties, Indiana.
Asbury L. Kerwood, Military History of Delaware County.
Goodspeed Bros. & Co., History of Pike and Dubois Counties, Indiana.
George R. Wilson, History of Dubois County.