

The Editor's Page

Anyone interested in old homes should find the second edition of a small booklet by Julie Le Clerc Knox, Some Interesting Pioneer Homesteads In and Around Vevay, Indiana, published in 1948, very suggestive. Copies of this publication may be obtained from Miss Julie Le Clerc Knox, 949 East Main Street, Vevay, Indiana.

Under the auspices of the Michigan Historical Commission, Charles A. Anderson has prepared a five-page mimeographed article on Suggestions for Celebrating Community Anniversaries. For copies of this article write to the Michigan Historical Commission, Lansing 13, Michigan. This may be of interest to Indiana communities since 1950 is the sesquicentennial year of the founding of Indiana Territory.

If there are a sufficient number of Lincoln students and friends who would be interested in subscribing to a quarterly or bimonthly publication at two dollars a year, the McLellan Lincoln Collection at Brown University, Providence, Rhode Island, will publish a four to eight page pamphlet.

The editor wishes to thank J. B. Baernkopf and Robert H. Espey who very kindly contributed their March, 1948, copies of the Indiana Magazine of History. An earlier list of donors was published in the March, 1949, issue. We could use additional copies of the March, 1948, issue since the demand exceeds the supply available.