

Indiana Historical Workshop

Another workshop of three days at McCormick's Creek State Park, April 5 to 8, is being sponsored by the Indiana Historical Bureau, Indiana State Library, and Indiana University.

A very interesting program has been planned. Lectures on the pioneer period will be given by R. Carlyle Buley, professor of history at Indiana University, author of The Old Northwest, and Pulitzer Prize winner in 1951. A. W. Crandall, professor of history at DePauw University and Civil War expert will speak on the Battle of Gettysburg and Indiana's part in it. Another scholar of Indiana history, Donald F. Carmony, will discuss the "home front" during the war. An illustrated lecture on Morgan's Raid through Indiana in 1863 will be given by Howard H. Peckham.

Literary Figures of Indiana will be discussed by William E. Wilson, novelist and professor of English at Indiana University, and Mrs. Jeanette C. Nolan, novelist and children's writer.

Margaret Waters of Indianapolis, an experienced genealogist, will share her knowledge with family "tree climbers." An opportunity for a discussion of genealogical problems with Eleanor Peterson, head of the Indiana State Library Genealogy Division; on writing local history with Dorothy Riker and Gayle Thornbrough; and information about county societies with Howard H. Peckham, may be counted on by those who attend.

The nominal fee of twenty dollars will cover all expenses except transportation. Reservation should be made directly with Canyon Inn, McCormick's Creek State Park, Spencer, Indiana. A deposit of five dollars should be made. For further information on the workshop write to
