

Correction

We regret that two lines were misplaced in "A Rural Indiana Weekly as Promoter: Editorials from the Peru Gazette of 1839" edited by Walter R. Houf in the March, 1969, issue of the Indiana Magazine of History. Lines 30 and 31 on page 45 should be lines 26 and 27 on page 46. The sentences in question should read: page 45, beginning at line 29, ". . . for more than likely if the community prospered, the newspaper prospered." and page 46, beginning at line 25, "Lasting white settlement in the county had probably begun about 1827, but Miami County was not officially organized until 1834. Miamisport, the first town in the county, was laid out in 1829."
