

Cornelius O'Brien Lecture Series Concerning Historic Preservation in Indiana 1972-1973

The second lecture in the first annual Cornelius O'Brien Lecture Series Concerning Historic Preservation in Indiana is scheduled for Indianapolis on Friday evening, March 30, 1973. Arthur P. Ziegler, Jr., executive director of the Pittsburgh History and Landmarks Foundation, will present an illustrated discussion, "Historic Preservation of Inner City Areas." The program will be given at 8:00 p.m. in Lecture Hall, Room 102, on the Indiana University-Purdue University Campus, 925 West Michigan Street. There is no charge for admission, and interested persons are invited to attend. Professor Donald L. Kinzer, chairman of the Department of History, Indiana University-Purdue University, Indianapolis, is chairman for the program.

The third and concluding lecture in the O'Brien Lecture Series for 1972-1973 is scheduled for South Bend on Saturday evening, May 26, 1973. The speaker will be Mary C. Means, field director of the Chicago office of the National Trust for Historic Preservation. Her topic will concern the progress of the National Register of Historic Places. The program will be presented at 8:15 p.m. in Carroll Hall, in the Madeleva Building, on the campus of St. Mary's College, South Bend, following a dinner meeting associated with an historic tour of South Bend and vicinity. Professor Patrick J. Furlong, Department of History, Indiana University, South Bend, is the chairman for this program. There will be no admission charge for Ms. Means' address, and all interested persons are invited to attend. (People who wish to participate in the tour or to attend the dinner meeting should make advance reservations with Professor Furlong.)

The initial presentation of the O'Brien Lecture Series for 1973-1974 is expected to be given at Bloomington on September 21, 1973, as part of the Fifth Annual Conference on Historic Preservation in Indiana to be held at Indiana University on September 21-22, 1973. Persons who have registered for recent conferences should receive programs for this conference by not later than mid-August. Others wishing to receive programs should send their full names and mailing addresses, including zip codes, to Dean Eunice Roberts, Indiana University Committee on Historic Preservation, Indiana University, Bloomington, Indiana 47401.

The Cornelius O'Brien Lecture Series Concerning Historic Preservation in Indiana is made possible by a grant received from Mrs. Cornelius O'Brien of Lawrenceburg and her daughter, Mrs. John Timberlake Gibson of Washington, D. C. Mr. O'Brien (1883-1953), a farmer, banker, and manufacturer, was quite active in various historical societies and was also a pioneer in the historic preservation movement in Indiana.
