

InULA Executive Board Announcements

Launch of New InULA Website

On behalf of the InULA leadership, I am pleased to announce the launch of the organization's new and improved website (link remains the same).

The decision to redesign the website was prompted by a need to address accessibility and other architecture-related problems with the previous website developed using WordPress. The new website was developed using IU's Web Content Management System \(WCMS\), which should ensure the site remains accessible and scalable into the foreseeable future.

If you have questions or feedback on the new site, please feel free to reach out to me directly.
