

Undergraduate Research Journal of History

Volume VI

2016

Editorial Staff

Jen Kucharski: Editor-In-Chief

Julie Crew: Editor

Nicholas Fuller: Editor

Indiana University South Bend Undergraduate Research Journal of History

Nathan Rudnicki: Editor

Danielle Schmidt : Editor

Dr. Tom Murphy: Faculty Advisor

The essays published in this journal were selected using a rigorous, double-blind peer review process.

Table of Contents

Editorial Staff

Jen Kucharski: Editor-In-Chief
Nicholas Fuller: Editor	11
Nicholas Fuller: Editor	21
Kaitlyn Kabzinski: Editor
Nathan Rudnicki: Editor	27
Danielle Schmidt : Editor	45
Dr. Tom Murphy: Faculty Advisor
Linda Bolt	49
Then and Now: The Origins and Development of the Gay Community in South Bend
Ren Wineland	71
Plowed Over: An Archaeological and Historical Investigation Into the "Triangle Lot" in the West Washington District, South Bend, Indiana
Patrick Finnigan	83

The essays published in this journal were selected using a rigorous, double-blind peer review process.

Table of Contents

Acknowledgements	9
Xinjiang: The History and Context of Modern Issues Nicholas Fuller.....	11
The Gardens of Versailles: Landscaping a Political Façade Julie Crew	21
Bound for the Promised Land: Camp Meetings and Their Impact on Antebellum Religion and Society Debra Parcell	27
Indiana University South Bend History Club Feature.....	45
McCarthy Versus Acheson: Opportunism Versus Integrity Linda Bolt.....	49
Then and Now: The Origins and Development of the Gay Community in South Bend Ben Wineland	71
Plowed Over: An Archaeological and Historical Investigation Into the “Triangle Lot” in the West Washington District, South Bend, Indiana Patrick Finnigan	83

Acknowledgments

The Undergraduate Research Journal of History is now finishing its sixth year of publication. It has been committed to publishing the best historical research of IU South Bend's undergraduate students and offering the opportunity for the editorial staff to learn the finer points of editing and critical analysis. The editorial staff has been proud to continue these traditions in the publication of this year's edition with the assistance of IU South Bend faculty and the generous support of the IU South Bend Student Government Association.

The editorial staff would like to thank everyone who assisted in the production of this year's journal. The faculty of the IU South Bend's History Department, particularly Dr. Jonathon Nashel and Dr. Hayley Froysland, were instrumental in the process of acquiring and soliciting student submissions. The editorial staff would also like to thank all of the student contributors. Without your research and hard work the journal would not be. We encourage all IU South Bend undergraduate students who have written historical research papers to submit next year and in the years to come. It is truly your work that makes the journal an exciting and interesting publication!

We would also be remiss not to offer thanks to both Dr. Timothy Willig and the IU South Bend History Club who have generously and kindly allowed us to feature a selection of their photographs taken on a club trip in commemoration of President Abraham Lincoln. They serve as a reminder that history is neither sterile nor far-removed and that it is indeed a rich and important part of our daily lives that can and ought to be experienced by all.

I would like to offer my personal thanks to the editorial staff. Their opinions, objectivity, and hard work were invaluable and their patience and commitment throughout the process of creating the journal were laudable. All of the history faculty at IU South Bend, both current and former, are also entitled to more gratitude than I can ably express. I returned to complete my degree after a decade-long absence and many of the professors I had then are no longer teaching at IU South Bend but their influences and the knowledge they shared have remained with me. I would also like to thank Dr. Lisa Zwicker for recommending me for the position of editor-in-chief and for the encouragement she offered me last spring and throughout the previous year. And finally, I would offer my sincere gratitude to Dr. Tom Murphy. By his patience, knowledge, and his editor's pen this journal was immeasurably enriched.

Jen Kucharski, Editor-In-Chief